RECEPTION GIVEN BY JUNIOR CLASS

VICTORS FROM RENO AND SENIOR CLASS ENTERTAINED MOST HOSPITABLY

The party given by the junior class of the high school Saturday evening in honor of the seniors and also as a reception for the visitors from Reno was a decided success. It was held in the high school gymnasium, which was tastefully decorated with the high school colors of both Reno and Tonopah for the occasion. Over forty-five couples were present, embodying the faculty, students and their friends. A program, consisting of songs, piano solos, duets and fancy dancing was rendered by the juniors, to whom much credit is due for the talent displayed by them along these lines.

The junior orchestra furnished music for the dance, which lasted until midnight. Refreshments were served on the stage, which was attractively hung with valentine greetings for the occasion. All departed assuring their hosts that they had spent a most enjoyable evening.

MRS. MARY M'NAMARA ANSWERS THE CALL

BELOVED MOTHER HAS SONS AND DAUGHTERS AT BEDSIDE WHEN SUMMONS COMES

Mrs. Mary McNamara died Sunday morning at Butte, Montana, where she was visited two weeks ago by one of her sons, J. E. McNamara of Tonopah. She was aged 71 years and was a native of Ireland. She came to Nevada 53 years ago from California and spent considerable time in Tonopah and Goldfield with relatives. Her husband was Thomas McNamara. All their children were born in Virginia City. The following survive: Thomas McNamara, Canada; J. E. McNamara, Tonopah; Dan and Michael McNamara, Butte; Frank R. McNamara, Goldfield; Mamie McNamara, Butte; Mrs. T. J. McGrath and Mrs. E. N. Hamilton, Butte, and a daughter, Mary Rita, a sister of mercy, San Francisco. The funeral will take place at Butte. All her children, except one, were at her bedside during her fatal illness. A number of grandchildren were also present on this sad occasion.

AN EXPENSIVE MEAL FOR JAMES BURKE

Jim Burke, released recently from the Esmeralda county jail, where he served a 30-day sentence, came over from Goldfield Saturday and begged a four-bit piece. Displaying the coin, he entered a Tonopah restaurant, ordered refreshments, enjoyed them and made his getaway while the waiter was at the rear of the establishment. The police picked him up. He will have an opportunity to explain to Judge Dunsen, who is again on the bench after several days' siege of rheumatism.

INITIAL SERMON BY NEW EPISCOPAL RECTOR

NOTES OF INTEREST TO MEMBERS AND FRIENDS OF ST. MARK'S CHURCH

The newly appointed rector, Rev. L. H. Tracy, of St. Mark's Episcopal church, preached his initial sermon last night before a good congregation. Mr. Tracy proved an earnest and forcible speaker, and the church is to be congratulated in having secured the services of so talented and genial a clergyman.

It was the intention to have held a meeting of the vestry on Wednesday evening next, but owing to the fact that the rector has an important engagement in Goldfield, of which parish he is also in charge, the meeting was unavoidably postponed. The pastor also announced that the regular meeting of the ladies' guild would be held on Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and a full attendance is earnestly desired, as this auxiliary of the church is a most important one. The usual choir practice will take place on Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, and as it is the wish to the rector to augment the voices as much as possible, it is hoped that as many of those who are willing and able to identify themselves with this branch of the work of the church will do so, and thus aid most materially in making the services a success.

Although Mr. Tracy has come amongst the Episcopalians and the people of Tonopah generally as a stranger, he has fully determined to become well acquainted, as he fully realizes this is an essential duty of a clergyman in order that success in a general sense may be achieved.

FIRE IN BETMONT-- DAMAGE NOMINAL

have fought it successfully without fire helmets, it is estimated by Manager Bradshaw that only 10 per cent of the workings were penetrated by the smoke.

This was the first occasion when the mine rescue apparatus has been put to practical use in the mines and it served its purpose admirably; none of the firemen experiencing difficulty breathing the manufactured air. The fire was almost in the exact location of the one that caused the great disaster on February 23, 1911. It was caused, according to best accounts, by a blast that was set off about 3 o'clock yesterday by the foreman to break a jam and let waste down into the stope, which had been worked out and was being refilled. He told the shift boss to look out for fire. The latter made inspection and found no trace of fire and it was not until three hours later that smoke was noticed and the alarm was given. The mine was quickly cleared of smoke and the day shift went on this morning at 7 o'clock as usual, although the afternoon shift that went on at 3 o'clock were hoisted out of the mine and sent home when the fire was discovered. The damage was inconsequential.

BUTLER THEATER

Tonight at the Butler theater a very interesting program has been arranged, as follows: Hearst-Selig Weekly of Current Events, with many scenes of interest from all over the world; "The Fable of the City Graft" and the Unprotected Rubes," a George Ade comedy, which is always good, and "How to Do It and Why, or, Cutty at College." Book agents are noted for their nerve—see "Butt-In" and you will acknowledge him a wonder funnier than a barrel of monkeys. At a moment's notice he becomes a spiritualist, makes the dead come to life and has everybody fooled until the landlady exposes the whole show. He makes himself so popular, however, she promises to marry him and gets her to consent to the marriage of her daughter to his friend Jack. He pretends to be a hypnotist and he surely has everybody feeling funny from the instant he shows his face until he takes it off the screen for the next picture. Tomorrow, the fifth episode of "Zudora," the Thambouser serial story. Wednesday, Francis K. Bushman and Beverly Bayne—Adv.
